According to U.S. News and World Report, Littleton is “an exciting destination worth adding an extra day or two to your Denver trip.”

In 2018 Littleton was recognized by wallethub.com as one of the 10 best small cities in America and was named the #1 Small Town in Colorado in 2017.

Just 10 miles south of Denver, Littleton is a charming historic community, home to diverse shopping, restaurants, and parks. Whether visitors are looking for entertainment, hoping to explore the outdoors, or in need of a little rest and relaxation, Littleton has it all.

The city embodies a strong sense of community through its historic downtown, active trail system and numerous community events. There are more than 59 parks and open spaces. Two light rail stations offer easy access to Downtown Denver, or visitors can explore the Rockies within 30 minutes.

The Lost Cajun

5350 S. Santa Fe Dr.
720-535-8862
thelostcajun.com

Southern hospitality at its core, The Lost Cajun brings friendly staff and authentic food to its Littleton location (5350 South Santa Fe Drive). Every patron starts the meal with a platter of samples, including lobster bisque, crawfish étouffée and red beans and rice, to awaken the taste buds. From there, try the fried catfish po' boy, the slow cooked gumbo or the fresh and house-made jambalaya, which is known to sell out nearly every day. Almost everything on the menu is made from scratch, from the tartar and Cajun sauces to the potato salad and coleslaw. Finish the meal with warm beignets covered in powdered sugar.

During Mardi Gras, The Lost Cajun will even offer slices or whole King Cakes. The restaurant also serves frozen drinks and a large selection of Louisiana beers, including Abita beers on tap.

Owner Greg Jones is a Louisiana native and was skeptical of Cajun-style food in Colorado but after his first trip to The Lost Cajun in the mountains, he was hooked. The Littleton location is open Monday-Saturday from 11 a.m.-9 p.m., and Sunday from 11 a.m.-8 p.m.

Lucile’s Creole Cafe

2852 W. Bowles Ave.
303-797-1190
luciles.com

Lucile's, which has been a Colorado favorite since 1980, is a family-owned restaurant that is known to have a line out the door around brunch time. The Littleton location at 2852 West Bowles Avenue carries the same look and feel as the original restaurant in Boulder. All of the locations have a comforting Cajun atmosphere and can be easily identified by the buildings’ signature pale yellow paint.

The Creole menu was developed by the current owner and his mother Lucile, and the restaurant’s first chef trained in New Orleans at a family restaurant called “Commander’s Palace.” Some favorite menu items at Lucile’s include the Cajun Breakfast (red beans, poached eggs, hollandaise and grits) and Eggs New Orleans (fried eggplant, poached eggs, creole spice and hollandaise).

NoNo’s Cafe

3005 W. County Line Rd.
303-738-8330
nonoscafe.com

After moving from New Orleans to Denver, Brian and Sonda Brewster opened NoNo’s Cafe in 1996. The restaurant’s name, NoNo, means “grandpa” in Italian, and comes from Sonda’s grandfather. Both he and Sonda’s mother are responsible for some of the menus recipes.

Not only does the restaurant have a big, inviting porch, but it also boasts beautiful views of the mountains. The inside is welcoming and the walls adorned with cajun decor, but the menu is truly what makes the Cajun spot a staple to the area. Some local favorites are the smothered catfish or the crabmeat au gratin. For those who are able to make room for dessert, NoNo’s strawberry cake will not disappoint.
Rocker Spirits, Littleton’s first and only micro distillery, has been a regional hot spot since its opening in August of 2016. The classy, yet rugged atmosphere is inviting to all crowds, and its creativity has earned it global recognition. In 2017, Rocker earned the PAC Packaging Consortium Global Leadership Award for its “rocking” liquor bottles, which were modeled after a 1930’s oil can. While the distillery’s unique appeal is usually what gets people in the doors, Rocker’s cocktails are what keep customers coming back. Here are a few of their favorites.

Rocker Old Fashioned

2 oz. - whiskey
½ oz. - simple syrup
4 dashes - aromatic bitters
2 dashes - orange bitters

Combine ingredients over ice and stir for about one minute until beverage is properly diluted and chilled. Pour over a large ice cube in serving glass. Zest and garnish with orange peel.

For simple syrup:
Use one part Demerara Sugar and one part water. Bring the mixture to a boil while stirring and remove once all sugar is dissolved. Let cool before using in cocktail.

Wide Eyes

1 oz. - Corvus Chicory Coffee Cold Press Concentrate
1 ¼ oz. - rum
¾ oz - chipotle and brown sugar syrup
1.2 tsp. - blackstrap molasses

Combine all ingredients and heat up on an induction burner until it almost comes to a boil. Pour into serving glass and top with lavender cream float. Garnish with a sprinkle of lavender pods.

For chipotle and brown sugar syrup:
1 - chipotle pepper
16 oz. - water
16 oz. - brown sugar
Steep pepper in water until it begins to fall apart. Add in sugar and heat until it’s fully dissolved. Strain the pepper out and let cool before use.

For lavender cream float:
8 oz. - heavy whipping cream
1 oz. - simple syrup
8 dashes - lavender bitters
Thoroughly mix ingredients together.

The Fabulous Bell Bottoms

2 oz. - green tea infused vodka
¾ oz. - Kaffir lime syrup
½ oz. - lime juice
½ oz. - lemon juice
Rocker Spirits recommends adding one drop of vanilla extract to every 8 oz. of green tea infused vodka.

Combine all ingredients in a glass and shake with ice until the mixture is properly cooled and diluted. Strain while pouring into serving glass and garnish with edible flower.

For Kaffir lime syrup:
Take the peels of a Kaffir lime and bury them in sugar. After a few days, remove the peels and create a simple syrup using one part sugar, one part water. Bring the mixture to a boil while stirring and remove once all sugar is dissolved. Let cool before using in cocktail.

For green tea infused vodka:
Add two bags of green tea into one 750 ml bottle of vodka and let sit for two hours.
The City of Littleton is home to a winery that has captured the attention of both residents and visitors. Carboy Winery is a unique urban winery that works directly with a variety of vineyards and winemakers from prominent wine regions around the world. While many of its grapes and fermented juices come from regions like California, Washington, Oregon, Italy, and France, it also utilizes a lot of Colorado product. The in-state vineyards that it sources from are located in Palisade and Paonia, Colorado.

Carboy’s experts carefully select and source high-quality grapes, juice, and single-varietal wine that is then brought to their Littleton winery. There, it is put through the delicate winemaking process, crushed and fermented, aged further, blended, and kegged or bottled. Unique to the market, at Carboy Winery guests can purchase world class wine in a bottle, or they can opt for a one-liter refillable Carboy growler and get their wine fresh from the tap.

Why kegged wine is more sustainable and cost effective?

Every year, about 600 million bottles are sold to restaurants and only about 27 percent of wine bottles are recycled. A keg eliminates the use of about 3,000 bottles over its lifetime (20 years). In addition, wine on tap eliminates the need for cork, foil, labels and the cases used for storage.

As if the sustainability isn’t impressive enough, kegged wine is more cost effective as well. In restaurants, 80 percent of wine is sold by the glass and an open bottle is exposed to oxidation. That means that 25 percent of profit is thrown away because of oxidation. Since kegs are pressurized with nitrogen, it prevents the wine from being exposed to oxygen, which makes the product last much longer. Kegged wine is good for about a year.
The Process

- Winemakers work with growers in monitoring the ripening process and determining optimal harvesting dates via vineyard sampling and analysis. They also help harvest and transport the grapes to the winery.

- Winemakers destem and crush the grapes using T-bins and Tanks to contain the grapes. Fun fact: all of Carboy’s grapes that are sourced from the Western Slope are crushed at the winery in Littleton.

- A Mechanical Destemmer machine is used to remove stems and debris from the clusters of grapes (some red varieties may have a portion of whole-cluster kept intact to add texture and complexity).

- A Hydraulic Basket Press (or sometimes feet) is used to crush the grapes and create the must (skins, seeds and stems). The press will separate the white wine juice from the stems and skins, while red wine juice stays in contact with the skins, stems and seeds to acquire flavor, color and tannin.

- Fermentation begins naturally with the wild yeasts on the grapes themselves or with cultured yeast isolates that winemakers add to ensure consistency, a healthy ferment, and to help predict the end results. Fermentation is the conversion of the sugar in the grapes into alcohol and carbon dioxide.

- Clarification is the next step where the solids are removed from the wine. The dead yeast cells and post-fermentation sediment is removed through the transfer process known as Racking. The wine is “racked” from its original vessel to another vessel, a Barrel or Tank, leaving the sediment behind.

- Aging will then take place and the winemaker will decide which vessel to age it in, a barrel, tank, or both; and how long the wine will age. Red wine will typically age longer than whites. Barrel-aging imparts a smoother, rounder mouthfeel and tank-aging accomplishes a zestier, more acid-forward wine.

- After the wine has aged appropriately, the process of heat and cold stabilization may be conducted. The heat-stabilization processes removes protein haze and cold-stabilization precipitates out tartrate crystals that drop to the bottom or stick to the sides of the vessel.

- The wine will then be Kegged and/or Bottled.

What is a Carboy?

A carboy, also called a demijohn, is a stout glass container with a narrow neck. Available in various sizes, they are essential to winery operations. These vessels date back to as early as 14th century Europe and in Colorado history they made their appearance during the gold rush. They are predominantly used for fermenting and transporting small batches of spirits, beer, and wine. Winemakers most often use carboys for experimenting in small batches and for topping off barrels in the wine cellar.
Cheese lovers rejoice! Curds Cheese, which opened on Main Street in January of 2017, boasts a wide variety of cheese. It offers anything from locally sourced brands in Colorado to specialty assortments from Italy. Owner Garrett Palecek has traveled the world to refine his palate and personally knows the stories and source of every cheese in the shop. In addition to the vast selection of cheese, the shop offers cured meats, chocolates, oils, vinegars, pasta, pasta sauce, hot sauce, and even pickles from the Real Dill. There are premade baskets or Palecek can help create the perfect present. Most of the cheese offerings range from $6-$20.

Indulge Your Sweet Tooth

For many, chocolate is about as therapeutic as it gets, but according to Julie Pech, author and owner of The Chocolate Therapist, the health benefits of cocoa stretch far beyond that. When Pech took ownership of her store in Downtown Littleton, her background was not in the candy industry, or even the food industry. In fact, she was a nutritionist, and she had a vision to develop a line of chocolate unlike any other.

All of the ingredients used in The Chocolate Therapist’s products are natural - no dyes, no preservatives, no artificial flavors. They also accommodate many food allergies and dietary restrictions. Furthermore, Pech dives even deeper, and teaches her customers about the nutrient-rich main ingredient, where it comes from, and how to reap some serious benefits from it. Studies have shown that chocolate can aid with heart and circulatory health, brain health, and even immune system function. According to the U.S. Department of Agriculture and the Journal of the American Chemical Society, chocolate is also one of the most antioxidant-packed foods available. Pech emphasizes though, that dark chocolate is the way to go if you are really in it for the health, which is why it’s one of the shop’s specialties.

Since she first stepped into the chocolate industry, Pech has published four books, “The Chocolate Therapist,” “The Last Damn Diet,” “Dare to Pair,” and “Chocolate Soiree.” She recently began a video series and holds classes at her store in Littleton, that draw dozens of people from around the metro area every single week.

In addition to an assortment of treats, customers can expect a full coffee bar.

The “Meltaway” Process

- Couverture are melted down
- Coconut oil and organic flavoring oils are added
- Molds are lined with chocolate and allowed to harden
- Flavored filling is added to molds
- Chocolate mold is sealed off with another thin layer of chocolate
- Chocolates are chilled until they’re ready to come out of the mold

With more than 50 stores and about two-dozen bars and restaurants, Downtown Littleton has become a hub for shopping, culture and entertainment. It offers a charming Main Street lined with turn-of-the-century buildings as well as a spectacular view of the Rocky Mountains. Downtown shoppers can find anything from high-end fashion to an eclectic mix of knick-knacks and antiques.

In addition to preserving the historic charm and integrity of the area, Downtown Littleton consistently hosts new, diverse events and entertainment. Visitors can spend time touring the city’s significant historic landmarks, drop in for a workout, stop in for some relaxation at a spa or catch live music at one of several energetic bars located downtown.

Downtown Littleton’s Main Street is easy to find, just one block from the light rail station. For a map showing free parking visit littletongov.org/downtownparking.
Many people may not be aware that essential city services are paid for with sales tax revenues. In fact, sales and use tax make up over half of the city’s annual budget. The sales tax that shoppers pay on goods and services in the city stays in the city. There are many ways that shopping local can help support smaller communities.

- Local Decision Making
  Local ownership means that important decisions are made locally by people who live in the community and who feel the impacts of those decisions.

- Keeping Dollars in the Local Economy
  Money spent in locally-owned businesses has three times the impact on that community as dollars spent at national chains. When shopping locally, shoppers simultaneously create jobs, fund more city services through sales tax, invest in neighborhood improvement and promote community development.

- Jobs and Wages
  Locally-owned businesses create more jobs locally and, in some sectors, provide better wages and benefits than chains do.

- Entrepreneurship
  Entrepreneurship fuels America’s economic innovation and prosperity, and serves as a key means for families to move out of low-wage jobs and into the middle class.

- Environmental Sustainability
  Local stores help to sustain vibrant, compact, walkable town centers which are essential to reducing sprawl, automobile use, habitat loss, and air and water pollution.

- Competition
  A marketplace of tens of thousands of small businesses is the best way to ensure innovation and low prices over the long-term.

- Product Diversity
  A multitude of small businesses, each selecting products based, not on a national sales plan, but on their own interests and the needs of their local customers, guarantees a much broader range of product choices.

- Support the Spirit of Enterprise
  Small businesses often are overlooked by customers enticed by larger companies. This can adversely affect the local economy. The rise in large chain stores, internet shopping and franchise service providers has reduced spending with small businesses.

Willow was founded in 2004 by Helen Rice and Donna Jaegers bringing fun, funky and original art to historic Downtown Littleton. When it started, Willow featured about 30 artists, now the store represents over 200 artists, mostly from Colorado. The store offers jewelry, pottery and glassware, garden art, greeting cards, clothing, paintings and prints, and accessories.

Willow is unique in that every item sold is uniquely crafted and created for the store. It combines a gallery experience, but with useful items that will create a one of a kind gift for any and all. Over the years the store has won Westword’s “Best of Denver” award and Channel 7’s “A-List” as one of Denver’s best gift shops.
Here Comes the Bride

Casa Bianca Bridal Boutique
5654 S. Prince St., Ste. C
720-484-5153
cbbridal.com

Casa Bianca Bridal Boutique has a gorgeous selection of bridal gowns for any style. Owner Sheri Kaiser opened the Downtown Littleton store in 2017. Her dream was to open a boutique that catered to the woman, not just to the dresses.

Rooted Boutique
2490 W. Main St.
303-495-2578
rootedboutique.com

Rooted has every bridal item except the dress. Whether you’re looking for a hairpiece, bridesmaids dresses, or a rehearsal dinner dress, owners Sara Bearss and Tayler Krietemeier have it in their inventory.

Conservatrice
2376 W. Main St.
303-733-2391
conservatrice.com

In 2017 Conservatrice, which means “curator” in French, moved from Denver to Littleton for the historic and small-town atmosphere. Owner Betsy Jamison explained that the store’s name also aligns with her buying philosophy. She curates or collects inventory for the store like it’s a museum. Fresh flowers can be ordered ahead of time, which is encouraged, but walk-in bouquets are also available.

It’s not just the beautiful views or convenient location that make Littleton an ideal wedding destination, it’s also the number of resources available right in town. In addition to spectacular venues, the city is also home to a number of florists, caterers, bridal shops and jewelers who are able and willing to collaborate with one another to create the perfect event.

There is no vendor list, meaning guests can use their preferred businesses of choice to cater, decorate and entertain.

“Twenty-eight years ago I was born to work here.”

– RN, Labor & Delivery

When the Littleton Adventist Hospital birthing center was in its own infancy, I was among the unit’s first newborns. The experience made such a positive impression that I was determined to one day return and be a part of our highly-trained, uniquely compassionate labor and delivery team.

At Littleton Adventist Hospital we don’t just practice medicine, we live it.

A Hudson Christmas is a premier outdoor holiday light show featuring thousands of twinkling lights, visits with Santa, and countless displays of color and sound that fill the gardens. The Brews & Views Beer Fest, co-hosted with the City of Littleton, features local craft beer tastings, live music, and lawn games.

Hudson Gardens is a not-for-profit, multipurpose public garden and event facility that has grown to connect nearly 160,000 people each year with nature. Carrying on the legacy of its founder Evelyn Hudson, it is first and foremost a place of beauty, providing the community with opportunities for enjoyment, recreation, and education amidst a backdrop of stunning botanic displays and natural open spaces.

Community support is integral to Hudson Gardens' mission and success. Over 200 community volunteers serve in various positions throughout the organization and support all program areas. The organization is supported by over 1,500 active members, and more than 700 individuals are honored and memorialized on site through tribute bricks, trees, and benches.

Ted Garcia painted every single day for a span of 5 years, 7 months, and 11 days, persevering through hardships, illness, and challenging weather. After what he described as “the experience of a lifetime” his work is now on display at his gallery in Aspen Grove. According to his biography, Garcia’s style grew out of commercial illustration mixed with a joy for Russian impressionism after studying with the master Don Sahli, whose artistic roots can be traced back to the great master painter, Sergei Bongart. Garcia is committed to merging these two styles to create the bold and vivid paintings for which he is known.

Nestled below the city's prime venue for theatre, the Stanton Art Gallery sits on the first floor of the Town Hall Arts Center. The gallery is named after Charles Edwin Stanton, born in 1909, a well-known Denver socialite. Stanton graduated from West High School in 1927 and went on to study at the University of Denver, the University of Colorado and at the Parson Schools of Design in New York City and Paris. The gallery hosts rotating exhibits of local artists and also provides a location for business functions, community meetings and fundraising events for other local non-profit organizations. Stanton Art Gallery is open Monday through Friday from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.
Alamo Drafthouse

Dinner, Drinks, Movies & Events

The Alamo Drafthouse is dinner, drinks, movies, and events, all under one roof. The staff’s attention to detail in film presentation and programming has made the venue a second home to movie fans around the state and earned accolades from Entertainment Weekly, wired.com, and fandango.com. Adding to the fun is the unique mural that is painted on the outside of the drafthouse. It is a piece commissioned by a local artist, Tracy Weil, whose work is known for distinctive use of bold color and abstract landscapes.

The Alamo Drafthouse works hard to make sure nothing disrupts the movies, and because of that moviegoers will never watch an ad there. Instead of advertisements or mind-numbing content, the theater has created custom pre-shows with content similar to most of the features it programs.

At the theater, customers can find a strong selection of casual dining as well as menu specials that are regularly updated. Cold beer and fine wines are available, and the staff makes sure to highlight local breweries whenever possible. Along with dinner in the theater, food and drinks are also served in the bar, Glass Half Full.

Innovation is at the heart of everything the Alamo Drafthouse strives for, so in addition to maintaining the latest and greatest in projection technology, they also program unique titles and special events that are hard to find anywhere else. On certain occasions viewers can take a break from the typical “no talking” policy to yell out classic lines at one of the theater’s Movie Parties.

Check out the theater’s calendar at drafthouse.com and choose a show to enjoy.
Town Hall Arts Center

Taking the Stage

Since 1977, Town Hall Arts Center, located in historic Downtown Littleton, has been a performing arts venue for the community. A group of local citizens decided there was a growing need for a performing arts center in the city. They came together and formed the Littleton Foundation for Cultural Arts and negotiated with the City of Littleton for the recently vacated Town Hall. After an intensive fundraising campaign and strong support from the city, the Town Hall Arts Center celebrated its first season in 1982.

In the historic 1920s building, the current lobby once housed the city fire truck, and the scene shop was once a basement jail. The second-floor auditorium served as a community meeting room, which is where the city council met, court was held and where community dances took place. The present Stanton Art Gallery used to be occupied by city offices.

Today, Town Hall Arts Center remains dedicated to its mission to enrich the cultural, social, and educational life in the community through professionally produced live theater, as well as other cultural events and year-round educational programs for children and adults. The Stanton Art Gallery, which is located downstairs, features rotating art exhibits from local talent. The upstairs theatre is an intimate setting with seating for 260 people.

From September through June, Town Hall Arts Center produces six main stage musicals or comedies, in addition to a concert series. Over the years, Town Hall Arts Center has received numerous awards for the quality of its productions. Since 2012, the theater has won six Henry awards, which is Denver’s version of the Tony awards, and in 2015 won Westword’s Best of Denver award, “Best Big Musicals at Small Prices.”

Town Hall Arts Center is located on Main Street in the heart of the historic Downtown Littleton shopping district and is one and a half blocks from the light rail station. For more information about what’s currently going on at Town Hall Arts Center, visit TownHallArtsCenter.org.

The Littleton Museum draws visitors from all over the state of Colorado. With two working farms, livestock, costumed interpreters, exhibits, programs, and events for all ages, the museum is one of the most popular cultural sites on the Front Range. For more than four decades, the Littleton Museum has served as the primary repository for history, art, and culture in the community. It sits on 39 acres and is located about one mile east of Downtown Littleton.

The museum’s two living history farms highlight agriculture in both the 1860’s and 1890’s. They feature 20 historic and replica buildings, heirloom livestock, and crops. The museum also has a collections center, which houses most of the city’s 44,000 artifacts, and a main building for exhibition, research, and administration. The main building also features rotating exhibits and work from local artists.

The main building was renovated and expanded in 2004, increasing the structure’s square footage from 9,000 to almost 32,000. The new building, which opened in February 2005, houses four galleries, a research center, a lecture hall, educational classrooms, and offices.

Often cited as one of the top local history museums in the country, the Littleton Museum has an outstanding reputation within the museum community. Out of an estimated 20,000 museums in the nation, the Littleton Museum is one of only 1,072 to be accredited by the American Alliance of Museums, and one of 24 in Colorado; this means that the Museum meets the highest professional standards of the industry. The Littleton Museum is one of only 216 museums, and the first museum in Colorado, to be designated as an Affiliate of the Smithsonian Institution. Admission is free and it is open Tuesday-Friday from 8 a.m.-5 p.m., Saturday from 10 a.m.-5 p.m., and Sunday 1 p.m.-5 p.m.
Living History Farm

Step back in time and experience life as it was in both the 1860s and 1880s. The Littleton Museum features living history farms that highlight the reality of what it was like to live in Littleton. Volunteers roam the property and work churning butter, plowing fields, tending to livestock or even working as blacksmiths. The farms have been recreated with painstaking details, even the nails in the building were crafted by the hands of a blacksmith using only the tools available during that time period. All kinds of animals live on the farm and in the spring months visitors may even be lucky enough to see the new babies that have just arrived into the world.

Littleton’s Past & Present

The Littleton Museum is home to hundreds of artifacts from Littleton’s history offering visitors a unique link between Littleton’s past and present. The permanent gallery exhibits a comprehensive historical look at Littleton from prehistory to the present through graphics, photography, and artifacts from the museum’s collections. Learn how the City of Littleton began and evolved into what it is today. For the museum’s younger visitors, the Kids’ Connection provides interactive hands-on exhibits and activities.

Local Artists

The Littleton Museum hosts different exhibits of all kinds and often features artists from all around Colorado and the U.S. These images are from Jane Gutheridge’s Reflecting Light exhibit. Gutheridge says “Moving from the midwest to the abundant sunlight and dramatic skies of Colorado has inspired my work. I have always been interested in looking closely at nature and find that the vast areas of wilderness in the West allow for a deeper contemplation of the ethereal qualities of the natural world -- the rich colors of the land, the gentle curve of plants, the patterns of dappled light through trees. I abstract and reconfigure these patterns to convey the underlying rhythms and harmonies of our environment, creating a space that is somewhere between the real and the imagined.” For more information about Jane Gutheridge go to janeguthridge.com.
From books to movies, classes to concerts, Littleton’s library has been at the heart of the community for over 50 years, and still proudly serves the many needs of citizens and visitors.

Engaging: The library invites anyone to participate in regular thought-provoking discussions, interactive story times, and crafts for every age. It is the staff’s goal to ensure that learning is never boring.

Informative: Gain a greater knowledge of the world at Bemis Public Library with a vast amount of resources that cover local history, global travels, and the solar system.

Empowering: Every member of the community has a place at the library, and staff strive to provide support, encouragement, resources, and tools to every patron. The library’s volunteers assist immigrants on the path to citizenship, help job seekers create resumes and navigate online applications, and connect seniors with the services they need.

Entertaining: The library hosts monthly concerts, with performers from every era and style of music. On the calendar visitors can also find movie matinees and other activities for every age.

The Littleton Twilight Criterium is the premier single-day cycling event in Colorado and is part of USA Cycling's national racing calendar. Since the first race in 2013, it has become one of the most exciting and action-packed events in Downtown Littleton. The annual cycling race is a national criterium that features high-intensity racing from professionals and amateurs from all over the country.

The Littleton Twilight Criterium is held the first Saturday in August starting at 3:30 p.m. and finishes under the lights at 10:30 p.m. The race course is a 1.3 km loop through the streets of Downtown Littleton. With speeds of more than 30 miles per hour, cyclists race to a dramatic, thrilling sprint finish. More than 500 riders from around the country compete for the top spots.

In addition to competitive racing, the event includes plenty of family-friendly activities like live music, a kids area, food trucks, and a beer garden featuring local brews. The family-friendly Cruiser Ride takes place each year for all ages and abilities to test their skills on the course.

Spectators are not the only ones who are delighted by the Littleton Twilight Criterium. In the 2018 event, racers awarded a 4.7 out of 5 star rating and nearly half of the professional racers who participated traveled to Littleton from 21 states and 10 different countries. “Very exciting and a great job on spectator turnout,” raved one enthusiastic racer.

“I raced in the Littleton Crit again this weekend and it was as awesome as ever. Thank you so much for your support of bike racing. Seemed like the crowds were strong. Hope the local businesses got some benefit! I love these kinds of “in-town” criteriums. They are common in other parts of the country but rare in Colorado so I really do appreciate your support from the city,” said racer Matt Duncan.

Join the fun at this free event! Spectators can take the light rail or use any of Littleton’s recreational trails to get to the race.

Exploring
Parks & Trails

Get outside and explore in the natural oasis that is South Platte Park. The Mary Carter Greenway Trail travels along the South Platte River and consists of about 880 acres of open space. It is an ideal area for an outdoor getaway.

From fishing for smallmouth bass and trout in the five lakes to tubing or kayaking through both serene gentle water and river rapids, South Platte Park has something for everyone. Visitors can bike or hike along the trail and take in the beautiful scenery.

Littleton is not only a growing and thriving community and an ideal destination for visitors, but is also home to abundant wildlife. Littleton has over 1,400 acres of parks and natural open space that are home to many species of animals. South Platte Park is nationally recognized as an Important Bird Area (IBA). During the summer, it is a space where over 50 species of migratory bird breed and in the winter it is a critical feeding area for more than 25 species of waterfowl. Overall, 250 types of birds have been identified in the park. In addition to a mix of urban wildlife, the park is full of other beautiful animals such as mule deer, white-tailed deer, weasels, herons, snowy egrets, osprey, bald eagles and kestrels.

To ensure wildlife safety:

- Keep all pets on a leash and make sure they are supervised when outdoors
- If coyotes or foxes are seen, yell or make a noise
- Never feed wildlife like racoons, foxes or skunks
- Feed pets indoors and secure trash from animals
- While photographing or watching wildlife, remember if the animal reacts to your presence, you are too close.

Coyotes roam through the area and can grow as large as 40 pounds. While they pose little threat to humans, they are predators that won’t hesitate to feed on outdoor cats and small dogs. It is also important to keep in mind that great-horned owls nest throughout the city and could pose a threat to small pets.
The Carson Nature Center is located just behind the Aspen Grove Shopping Center at 3000 West Carson Drive. The center has a vast number of resources and educational opportunities. With a model and interactive water table that recreates the famous flood of 1965, it is fun for the entire family. Visitors can also observe live animals in the center's museum or participate in programs guided by interpretive naturalists for a variety of ages and interests. Staff are professionally certified through the National Association for Interpretation. For more information about guided activities or education programs visit ssprd.org/nature. For more information about hiking trails in the area head to ssprd.org/parks.

Since 2006 the City of Littleton has teamed up with several other cities and organizations to conserve and enhance property along the South Platte River corridor. The group, known as the South Platte Working Group, has secured more than $50 million to improve the area that stretches through Arapahoe County. From improving access to trails to preserving and protecting open space, the group has completed, or is the process of completing, more than 20 large-scale projects. The City of Littleton and the South Platte Working Group are dedicated to increasing and enhancing the recreational value of the corridor; preserving natural areas, wildlife habitat, and water quality, while at the same time encouraging education and recreational activities. Play it Safe with Banks the Otter

The South Platte River serves as a source of relaxation, entertainment and reprieve from the hot Colorado temperatures in the summer months. However, just like any body of water, visitors should be aware that it can be dangerous. To ensure that safety is a top priority, signs are posted in the area featuring a character named Banks the Otter offering safety guidelines and tips.

Wear a Life Vest!
- It is the one piece of equipment that will save your life.
- Consider a helmet and shoes.
- Use river worthy equipment, not pool toys.

Safe To Go?
- Know the water conditions.
- River flow may increase rapidly and become too dangerous.
- Check the water level to know when to go and when to wait for another day.

Know Where You Are
- Tell someone where you are going.
- Know your put-in and takeout locations, major hazards and rapids.
- When calling 911 to report an emergency, knowing your exact location will enable rescue professionals to find you quickly.
- Know the location of your car keys and phones.

Float Sober
- If you float while impaired, you may not notice a hazard or remember how to handle an emergency.

Aim Between the Signal Boulders
- Boulders mark the best path. Look for them at the beginning of many rapids.

Float with Friends
- You can help each other build river skills, and offer assistance when someone needs it. Learn if your friends can swim and if anyone has first aid skills!

Be Courteous
- People from upstream always have the right of way.

RELAX & UNWIND
In the midst of shopping, exploring, and socializing, a little rest and relaxation can be the perfect balance. That’s what Littleton’s Five Well Being Studio + Spa is all about. The spa’s treatments are not only unique because of the techniques and tools used, but they’re also personalized to each individual.

The concept began when Owner Betsy Abrams compiled all that she had learned and experienced about self-care. Her spa offers traditional treatments such as massages, facials and brow services, but customers also have the option to venture into a new world of relaxation with services that are tried and true by Abrams. Her menu includes floating facials, Vichy shower scrubs, or quartz table massages, and every treatment incorporates the five core elements: water, fire, metal, wood and earth.

In addition, sound plays an important part of the journey. Each room is equipped with its own music source and guests can also explore sound resonance therapy in state-of-the-art chairs that are designed to stimulate both neurological and psychological changes within a body. Through the backyard oasis is a yoga studio. The floor is equipped with the same sound vibration technology, allowing for a more immersive experience.

The spa is bringing destination style treatments to the local market with all-inclusive pricing. Drop-ins are welcome but appointments are preferred.

Did You Know?

Richard Little

Richard Sullivan Little was born in Grafton, New Hampshire on May 12, 1829, and is the namesake for the City of Littleton. Little graduated from college with a Bachelor’s Degree in engineering and mathematics and made his way to Colorado surveying property lines. On June 3, 1872, Little filed a plat of his land with the Territorial offices laying out the village of Littleton. Selling lots became a part of Little’s livelihood. He also donated lots for churches, a schoolhouse and other civic improvements. In 1873, Little was elected to the Territorial Legislature, where he championed the cause of expanded irrigation.

Early Settlers

Rooted in the Pike’s Peak gold rush of 1859, Littleton owes its steadfast success to its earliest citizens. In the early 1860s residents found little success in the gold fields west of Denver. After anticipating the need for clean water and food, and hoping to increase local commerce, Littleton’s settlers worked together to establish irrigation systems and an agricultural community. Richard Sullivan Little, the town’s namesake, divided his land and sold portions in 1872. He also helped engineer the city ditch and build the Rough and Ready Flour Mill pictured here.

The Colorado Cannibal

Alfred “Alferd” Packer is the only person in the United States ever convicted for eating another man. He was hired as a guide by 21 gold seekers heading into the mountains in November of 1873. After three months of grueling winter travel part of the group took refuge with Chief Ouray and the Utes, but Packer and five others continued on. Packer emerged near Gunnison after 66 days in the wild and later admitted to cannibalism to stay alive. Packer was convicted and sentenced to hang, but was paroled in 1901. He spent his last years in Littleton and is buried in the Littleton Cemetery.

Automobiles

On January 18, 1907, the Littleton Independent reported that Littleton ranked first in number of automobiles owned in towns of similar populations in Colorado. “How many automobiles were owned in Littleton?” one might ask. A whopping 16! This photo has approximately eight automobiles parked on Main Street, with crowds gathered for the Denver Post Marathon foot race on April 16, 1909.
Women’s Independent Club of Littleton

An important group from Littleton’s history is the Women’s Independent Club of Littleton. Formed in September 1897, the club hoped to advance intellectual pursuits and practical improvements in the lives of women. Later changing its name to the Littleton Women’s Club, it was instrumental in the creation of the town’s first library, as well as other fundraisers, including a 1905 baseball game that raised $90. This is a photograph of the group from a costume party at Will Caley’s home in Littleton, c.1908.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. visited Littleton in January of 1964. He was asked to speak by the Littleton Council for Human Relations and addressed a group of over 250 people at Grace Presbyterian Church in Littleton. This is a photo of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. with Littleton Mayor Thomas R. Heaton on Jan. 25, 1964.

Denver & Rio Grande ‘Prospector’

On November 17, 1941, Denver & Rio Grande Railroad’s ‘Prospector’ locomotive made its trial run from Denver to Palmer Lake with Governor Carr, Mayor Stapleton, and others on board. This photo was taken as the train passed through Littleton. The full route was from Denver to Salt Lake City, with service taking 13 hours.
